Restoration of Forest Program

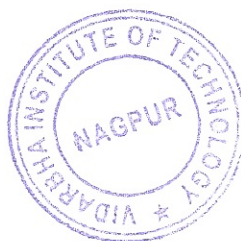

"International Day of Forests"

Each year more than 32 million acres of forests are lost. Forests play a critical role in climate change including global warming. Forests provide food, fiber, water and medicines for approximately 1.6 billion people of the world. Tree reduces the noise pollution, as they shield homes from nearby roads and industrial areas. Forests also protect watersheds and prevent flooding as they store water in their branches and soil.

The International Day of Forests was established on the 21st March, by resolution of the United Nations General Assembly in 2012. This global celebration of forests provides a platform to raise awareness of the importance of all types of woodlands and trees, and celebrate the ways in which they sustain and protect us.

The Vidarbha Institute Of Technology (VIT), had celebrated International Day of Forest with full enthusiasm and follow the theme of 2018 "Forests and Sustainable Cities" On this occasion around 43 students of different branches had participated in this activity and a tree plantation campaign was organized in college and around 55 new trees were planted.
